EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

With a style that blends the essence of futsal with the sophistication of elite football, Paulo Iago represents a rising talent at Sporting CP following his spell at Real Madrid. Formed at La Fábrica, he became the club's top youth scorer, with over 150 goals across various age categories, standing out as a left-footed attacking midfielder. Despite his promising start, a lack of minutes at Real Madrid's U19 level generated frustration, and in 2024, under the guidance of super-agent Jorge Mendes, he made the bold decision to join Sporting CP.

TECHNICAL ANALYSIS

His exquisite touch, body feints, and unpredictable rhythm of play position him as one of Spain's most captivating young prospects. He shows elite ball control and quick turns in tight spaces, underpinned by a low centre of gravity inherited from his futsal-influenced formation.

TACTICAL ANALYSIS

Iago excels in free attacking roles, using his explosive acceleration and feints to break down compact defences. He enjoys carrying the ball through congested midfield zones, threading clever passes and taking on multiple defenders, reflecting exceptional game vision and the ability to deliver the final creative pass.

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL ASPECTS

Born in Madrid, Iago's passion for football was evident from an early age. After overcoming a double leg fracture at age 4, he returned with unmatched determination and talent — an early display of resilience that helps explain his later emergence as a leading youth goal-scorer. By age 14, he had already caught the attention of Jorge Mendes, a reflection of the vast potential seen in him even before his professional debut.
