EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A 22-year-old creative midfielder with a solid development path spanning his formation at Sigma Olomouc, consolidation at Sparta Prague, and spells at Pardubice and LASK. He stands out as an emerging talent and creative engine in Central European football, with international experience across youth national teams from Under-15 to Under-21 level, including participation in the 2025 U21 European Championship. A versatile player who contributes adaptability, goals, assists, and control of the game.

TECHNICAL ANALYSIS

He shows an ambidextrous profile with a wide and precise passing range. He possesses a notable ability to resolve situations in the final third, contributing to both scoring and assisting teammates. His accuracy allows him to combine fluidly and take responsibility for ball distribution with composure in the creative zone.

TACTICAL ANALYSIS

He displays a high level of positional intelligence and tactical reading, operating effectively between the lines and dictating the tempo of midfield play. He adapts easily to different roles within the central zone. He stands out both in the build-up phase and in high-press work and offensive/defensive transitions, ensuring a balanced presence across the playing circuit.

PHYSICAL AND MENTAL ASPECTS

He has shown notable tactical maturity and adaptability while competing at a high level since his debut at age 17. He has successfully transitioned between different competitive environments, such as the Czech First League and the Austrian Bundesliga. He stands out for his work rate, commitment to pressing duties, and mental composure in demanding international competitions.
